PreSchool-Grade 1 •A picture book with a rhyming text, bright colors, and plenty of action. It presents officers of both genders and various ethnicities on the job as head of a team or crew, a detective, or a patrolman preventing crime. It also introduces canine assistants, patrolmen on horseback, and officers assisting with traffic control. The cartoon art was digitally rendered. This brief, introductory look at law enforcement makes a fine companion to the author and illustrator's Firefighters: Speeding! Spraying! Saving! (Marshall Cavendish, 2007). •Mary Elam, Forman Elementary School, Plano, TX Copyright © Reed Business Information, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. I thought the book described how officers help , protect and serve us, all though it is good. I hope to find more books about this, which is my goal to teach my grandkids this important topic.

The pictures are great. The words are direct and to the point. Very informative.

Grandson is obsessed with police. We read this over and over and over and over.

We love this book! My 3 yo is obsessed with policemen, but also a bit scared of them, so I wanted to get a book like this one to reassure him that police are there to help. It's perfect for his age - a step up from the board books, but not too "wordy" so that he loses interest. It's cute and well-written, and I have now purchased the fireman one from the same author. Def recommend!

Very cute story, as I am a kindergarten teacher, this book is really good when studying different jobs and careers. It goes over several duties of a police officer so leads to lots of discussion and it grabs the attention of kids so it really is a good book.All my kids love it so I recommend it.

My son loves this book! Cute, simple, and very engaging!

I bought this e-book for my grandchildren. The pictures are great. If I had paid more, I might have given it 4 stars. The kids love it, and ask to read it again and again, and that's good enough for me. A keeper. We also got the Firefighter book, which was an even bigger hit! Recommend for younger children only. 2-5

Cute book for my 4 year old grandson who wants to be a policeman when he grows up. Easy reading.
