A Pictorial History of World War II in Alaska and Northwestern Canada

My tour of duty was on the USS Richmond CL-9 from Aug 1943 to Nov 1945 . Our main base was Adak but we could also sortie from Attu , Or even head to the Pribiloff . Wow, Did they smell ! (Seal rookerie) Our main duty was to bombard the Japanese Kurile Islands and Interdict any fishing trawlers or transport ships .Since the distance was beyond U.S Aircorp protection any incursions had to be done at night or in heavy fog .>We did in fact cover quite a few of the Rat Islands but not as 'greenies or birdies.These books are certainly a view at what I missed so the ability to fly an easy chair with no shoes and a cool scotch These books were awesome !

Best I've seen yet of WW2 history specific to Alaska, the Aleutian Islands and NW Canada. Best when read third in sequence of the 4 volumes. Photographs are significant to understanding landscape, environmental challenges, and friendships. Copies of communiques presents the adolescence of wartime aviation and mix in extremely frigid temperatures. I have a greater appreciation and understanding of the Canadian participation in the War as one of our allies. Make room for this on your library shelf.

This is one of series of soft bound books on the War in Alaska that I found most interesting. There are a lot of good photographs of the "then and now" concerning that campaign. I have read three of them and they are all good Read the one about the stylus. The stylus I bought for my Mom. She loves it.

Last book of a very well done 3 book series on the war in Alaska. Also have volume two.

just as good as the first edition, excellent reading, couldn't put it down

Good information on World War 11 and what occurred in the Aleutians. Great title.

Gave as a gift. My mom has been wanting this book and loved it
