A Hole In The Fence: Christian Fiction For Kids

Synopsis

Pops and Meemaw are caretakers of an old mansion and its garden, which is hidden behind a privacy fence. The grandchildren aren't allowed in the garden, but no one will tell them why. Ten-year-old Rose lives there too - her mom is in the hospital and she hasn't ever met her dad. Eleven-year-old Neal lost his father when the World Trade Center collapsed a few months ago. He's staying with his grandparents next door while his mom is in California. When Rose arrives home from school, her cousin Alexandria has come to spend the weekend. The two girls catch Neal gazing at the garden through a hole in the fence. He's been following some small, white, winged creatures, but he can never get close enough to discover if they are birds or bugs ...

I like it because it tells about a girl who gets picked on and how one boy helps her. I like to read about real people and how God can help them. I will be looking for more books like this and by this author. My mom also likes it because it is a character building book. Written by a 9 year old.

The Stupid stupidest thing I've ever read.

This story held my attention all the way through. I enjoyed it very much. I liked the mystery and all the different aspects of the story. I will be looking for more stories by this author.

My granddaughter is loving this book. She hates to put it down.

Totally unexpected! Great perspective, great characters, great spiritual depth, great for pre-teens to Grandparents. Couldn't recommend enough. Am already looking forward to reading more.

Great reading any time of the day!

A hole in the fence is just a great book it's a great read I thought it told story of loss and friendship. if you are looking for a book to bring your childhood to your mind well this is it.

This was very easy reading and kept you guessing a bit. The children in the story were an example of the way life is for children as well as adults. I liked it because it was uplifting and made me smile.
